

At the Department of Forest Zoology and Forest Conservation, Georg-August-Universität Göttingen, Public Law Foundation invites applications for the post-doc-post / a

Research Assistant / Scientific employee
(Salary group 13 TV-L)

filled with the full average regular weekly working hours for a period of five years.

as well as a / a

Research Assistant / Scientific employee
(Salary group 13 TV-L)

fill with half the average regular weekly working hours for a period of three years.

The Institute is concerned with the ecology sense of smell in the light of insect-plant interactions. The group is working on the chemical ecology and the signal processing in the olfactory system of insects. For use will, in addition to environmental and behavioral mainly trace analytical, electrophysiological, and molecular biological methods. In addition to the ecological understanding of the processes sensual physiological specialization at the molecular basis of this work the development of new bionic sensors on the basis of insect olfaction. Interested applicants should bring joy in interdisciplinary work in the group and the independent scientific work.

Employment requirements are: PhD (desirable but not essential) for food or science, analytical thinking and technical skill. Solid knowledge in the field of trace analysis and electrophysiology are welcome.

The University of Göttingen aims in the areas in which women are underrepresented, to increase the proportion of women and thus expressly urges qualified women to apply. People with disabilities will be given preference if they are appropriate.

Part-time employment is possible.

Written applications should be sent to six weeks after publication of the advertisement to Prof. Dr. S. Schütz, Department of Forest Zoology and Forest Conservation, Büsingenweg 3, 37077 Göttingen (Germany)

Tel: 0551-39-3601 / Fax: 0551-39-22089 / stefan.schuetz @ forst.uni-goettingen.de